THE YACHATS CITY COUNCIL VISION

Adopted: April 2, 2009

Our village is a place where natural resources are valued and protected, where diversity is celebrated, and where a vibrant economy and sense of community pride create and recreate a living spirit. Yachats cares not just for its citizens' basic needs but also supports them in their efforts to excel mentally, physically, artistically, and spiritually. It is a community with an enduring sense of itself.

Mayor's Message

By Ron Brean, Mayor

In mid-March, as Vice President of the League of Oregon Cities, I was invited to go to Washington, D.C. to participate in the National League of Cities Congressional Conference. Those in attendance went to various training, strategy, and policy sessions. Much of it was very boring. Much of it was very enlightening. After the conference agenda was finished most people stayed around one more day for the purpose of meeting with the congressmen and women and the senators that represent their state. Not to put too fine a point on it, but our message was "be nice to us". We'll see how that works out.

I got to D.C. the day before the conference agenda began in earnest. The sun was shining and the air was warm. I took a nice long walk from the hotel, through Rock Creek Park, to the Lincoln Monument. Having recently seen the Academy Award winning movie about Mr. Lincoln it seemed appropriate to spend a few minutes at the monument and re-read some of his famous words on the wall. Then I went on to the Washington monument. Across Constitution Avenue and down a couple of blocks I leaned against a big bronze statue of Albert Einstein, took pictures of Albert surrounded by young German tourists and then swapped places with them and traded cameras to capture my likeness with Mr. Einstein too.

I made my way via the Metro rail back to the exit near the motel and found that the escalator from the train tunnel to the surface was out of order. My fellow debarking passengers and I climbed the immobile escalator...all 153 steps...to the surface. (Yes, I counted them.)

As is my wont, I set out on an early evening quest for an interesting local beer. I found one brewed in Baltimore called "Loose Canon". I don't know why "Loose Canon" and Washington, D.C. seemed so right together, but it somehow did. So I sat there and sipped my beer and had a brief conversation with the bar tender. His name is Syeed. He came from Bangladesh 26 years ago. Now he smiles across the hotel bar at people from Oregon, and New Mexico and New York (other mayors joined me at the bar). Later in the week I was served breakfast by a woman originally from Ethiopia. I met a city councilor from some town in Alabama who actually used the phrase "sure as heck fire" in a sentence. I had an amazing cup of coffee served by a young man with painted fingernails and had lunch with John McCain and Joe Biden...and about 2,000 of their close personal friends. And at the end of the week when I met with senators and congressmen I looked up in awe at the Capital building.

We live in an amazing country. It is still the melting pot it's always been. It's still the center of gravity for the great democratic experiment. It's still a place where ideas are tested and tried and vetted and argued and supported to fruition or pummeled into obscurity, all with the best possible of motives...on both sides of the discussion. While it's clear that this amazing country has serious issues with dysfunction, it's also clear that it's still amazing.

I had a great time, learned some things, made some contacts, passed on some ideas, and helped bolster support for Oregon and its cities. Then I gladly left the Capital of this amazing country and headed home to the most amazing place in it. I headed home to Yachats.

Yachats Public Works Department
By Rick McClung

During the month of April the Public Works department will be conducting our annual flushing, cleaning and pressure checking of the water distribution system. We will start Monday April 15th and should be finished by May 3rd.

There is a slight possibility that customers might experience a drop in water pressure, but this should only be for a short period of time. If we need to shut your water off we will let you know. There is also a slight chance that customers may notice a slight dis-coloration of their water. If this happens just run your water for several minutes and it should clear up.

There are several reasons that we do this on an annual basis:

- ✓ To exercise all the valves in the distribution system.
- ✓ To open and close hydrants to make sure they operate as designed.
- ✓ To flush and “scour” the water mains to insure removal of any small sediment that may have built up on the water pipe walls or settled on the bottom of the water mains.
- ✓ To flush and “scour” any dead-end water lines.
- ✓ Clean and inspect reservoirs

The overall intent of this exercise is to insure we maintain the highest quality water that is delivered to our customers. If you have any questions please call Public Works at 541-547-3243 or the Yachats Water Treatment Plant at 541-547-3851

Yachats Trails Update
By Jan Brown,
Communications Leader

HOORAY!!! It’s time for a huge, mammoth, gigantic, gynormous shout-out to all the people in our community (and there were MANY) whose vision, determination, generosity and hard work went into the realization of the new trail that now connects the Gerdemann Botanical Preserve (GBP) footpath with Diversity Drive and the Fistera Garden Apartments just north of town. After six years in the making (and more in the dreaming), construction of the trail is now complete!

While directional signs, maps and a final decision on naming are still pending, don’t let that stop you from exploring this stunning new link in our network of local trails.

- From the East end of the GBP footpath, exit through the gate, turn south for a short distance and then bear to the left where the new trail connects. Newly laid wood chips will show you the way.
- Alternately you can start from the east end of Diversity Drive where the trail takes off from the end of the Fistera Gardens parking area.

Or better yet, start from the 804 Trail north using the trail links provided by the Overleaf Lodge and Earthworks Gallery to the GBP. On this spectacular 1.15 mile loop you’ll wind your way from the ocean through the garden’s lush plantings, under magnificent forest canopy, over gently gurgling creeks and past quiet fern grottos before returning to the 804 and its dramatic ocean views. We are betting you will be TOTALLY smitten.

You’ll be hearing much more about how this trail came to be over the next two months leading up to its dedication on June 1st – National Trails Day. The theme of this year’s celebration of National Trails Day is Interpretation. There are several activities planned for that day, including the dedication ceremony, tours of the trail with interpretive stopping points staffed by US Forest Service seasonal interpreters, and a reception at the Overleaf Lodge’s Event Center.

National Trails Day

To help promote the National Trails Day Interpretation theme, Oregon State Parks’ Ranger Brian Fowler will lead an interpretive walk entitled Time and Culture on the Historic 804 Trail. Meeting time and location will be announced in the May newsletter, along with other Dedication and National Trails Day details. In the meantime, be sure to get this day of celebration on your calendar now and watch for details to come.

Other stuff:

Looking forward, the Yachats Comprehensive Trails Plan calls for the Siuslaw National Forest portion of this trail to continue south on the east ridge to downtown where it will connect to the 804 Trail South along the Yachats River and bay. The Trails Committee, never a group to stop and rest for long, is working on the plan and exploring access options for this future project now.

Speaking of groups that never stop to rest, here is the latest from the Yachats Invasive Plants Subcommittee (YIPS!) and their never-ending war on weeds.

YIPS! News (Yachats Invasive Plants Subcommittee)

On March 16 (our regular designated 3rd Saturday of the month work day), a party of ten YIPS! volunteers bravely set out under threatening clouds to follow up on our previous outing in the wooded area to the west of the wetland behind the Commons. Again our target was ivy, with a bit of holly thrown in for good measure. With many hands helping, we managed to pull a small mountain during our 2-hour foray. On the stroke of noon it began to rain – a good time to call it a day, and head off to the Drift Inn for some well-deserved R & R.

This month we have an especially important outing where we will work with Aaron Duzik of the Lincoln Soil & Water Conservation District. Aaron has written a successful grant proposal to work on Spurge Laurel and Clematis in Lincoln County. A part of the grant involves 48 hours of “in kind” labor from Yachadians, so we need a big turnout on April 20, our date for the Spurge Laurel dig/pull. Please mark your calendars now so that we can keep our part of the bargain. Details will be sent to everyone on the Trails and YIPS! e-mail list.

In addition, YIPS! will soon be sowing native wild flower seed in the gardens at the Whale Park and the Prospect Trail. Look out for the colorful results this summer!

To get on the mailing list for notification of these outings, call Wally at the number below. If you have questions about weeds, call Don (541-961-6695) or Wally (541-547-5474).

Little Log Church and Museum

By Mary Crook,
Events Coordinator

Thanksgiving in April

This is an amazing community, but you already knew that. Our most recent census puts our population at about 750. Now think about this: How many people do you know who have NOT volunteered for something in Yachats? I'd venture to say the percentage of volunteers to total population is pretty high. April is National Volunteer Month, so, on behalf of The Little Log Church and Museum, I would like to thank each and every one of you who have given your time and energy to making this an outstanding community.

There are opportunities for every level of interest, skill, and time constraint, as most of you well know. Most of my own friends and acquaintances have veritable platters full of interesting and productive things to do. Which is probably why, when asked to take on one more volunteer task, so many folks say they are just too busy. Nevertheless, there always seems to be another interesting item on the buffet to add to the plate if we are so inclined.

I am hoping you or someone you know might be so inclined, as we at the Little Log Church and Museum have a couple of slots open for museum hosts. We could use a person to work one three-hour shift every other week, and one on-call substitute (two more would be even better). We have a great training program, so don't worry about being an instant expert. Whether you are a long-time resident who draws from the "tribal memory", or an enthusiastic newcomer, we would welcome you as a Yachats ambassador. If you are interested, please give me a call at 541-547-4547. Or stop by the museum and leave your name and telephone number with one of the hosts on duty.

Again, thank you ALL for your support and energy in contributing to this wonderful community. Volunteers make us who we are. Happy "Thanks" for giving!

Yachats Public Library

By Janet Rackleff

This Summer Yachats Public Library will be offering an 8 week Summer Reading Program for children 4 - 9 years of age. Our library received state library grant for the program that will start June 25 and continue through mid-August on Tuesdays from 10-Noon.

"Dig into Reading" is this year's theme for the program and young readers will explore all things underground. Children will meet at the library for a story hour and book selection then walk over to the Commons for a craft activity or presentation. Activities will include digging into the past: a look at dinosaurs and fossils, exploring animals that live underground, plant life, looking at construction vehicles that dig in the dirt, and much more.

Each week's program is posted on the "Go Yachats" website calendar during the summer.

Children can earn weekly prizes by keeping track of their independent reading. For those too young for independent reading, time spent listening to stories and logged by a parent or adult also qualifies for prizes. Participating children will receive a free book each week through the generosity of the "Friends of the Library".

For more information about the program or to volunteer to help out this summer, stop in at the library or contact Janet at 547-3367.

Registration forms for children will be available in May.

Commons Events

By Leon Sterner, Coordinator

It has been a busy few weeks at the Commons with large events happening on the weekends. Bob Welch had a very successful Writers Workshop which was staged in the Multi-purpose Room, Room 8 and in the Kitchen. He and his crew expressed great appreciation for the Commons Facility as well as the support he received from those who help out with the event. He appreciates the friendly atmosphere which the Commons provides him and his workshop participants. He is onboard for another workshop next year.

The annual Arts and Crafts show produced by the Chamber of Commerce under the direction of Bev Wilson filled the building with vendors and many, many shoppers over the March 16th weekend. Two Job Corps students helped with setup and teardown. They also appreciated the extra weekend work. The students at Job Corps are a wonderful resource in our community and help us throughout the year. For instance, students in the Culinary Arts program help us each month at Lunch Bunch. They deliver and serve a much appreciated meal - and always with very friendly and positive energy.

And last weekend we had the annual Library Book Sale - put on by the Library Volunteers. This is a huge task to pull off! Those of you who attend each year know how many books, videos and sundry items there are to peruse, and no doubt can appreciate the amount of work and organization it takes to collect, store and then transport and lay out for this sale. They fill the MP room to the brim.... and have a good time doing it. Thanks to all those who participate to make this such an exciting successful annual event.

During all these events, the curtains have been closed on Stage... and behind those curtains much work has been going on as the "One of Us Elves" have been doing set construction for the upcoming performances of "Funny Money", directed by our own Carl Miller. Rehearsals and set design have been going well, and all should be ready for the YYFAP Dinner Theatre performance that takes place on Friday, April 12th. This is a fundraiser for the Youth Program - and includes a fancy meal and the show! For information and ticket reservations please contact Alice Beck at 541-547-4599. On the following Saturday, April 13th, the official opening night performance of "Funny Money" will begin at 7:30. The Friends of the Commons along with One of Us Productions have collaborated to purchase two new microphones designed specifically for theatre like productions, and will be used the first time for this production. Once again, thanks to all the users of the Commons and the One of Us Production team for their 'friendly' flexibility to accommodate the rigorous schedule of rehearsals and performances that a production like this involves.

We are looking into purchasing blinds for the windows in Rooms 8 and 3. These rooms are frequently used for digital presentations that require 'darkened rooms' and the present blinds are far past their prime for that purpose. We are looking into writing a grant to help with this expense.

As you visit the commons for classes, events or to check in at City Hall, please look around and let us know if there are improvements you would like us to consider. The gardens around the Commons are getting some early spring cleanup and the mural project on the West side by the YYFAP entrance is also sprucing up how the outside of the building appears. Thanks to the many who contribute to the vitality of our Commons Facility - both inside and out!

Yachats Lunch Bunch

GoYachats.com

By Andrea Scharf,
Marketing Director

Visiting? Yachatian with guests looking for something to do? If you want wonderful ideas, all you need to do is look at the Events listing on GoYachats! There are special events, like the slide show on Botswana and the Okavango Delta region of Africa, presented by Greg Scott on April 7, or the One of Us Productions performance of Funny Money throughout the month, or Off the Page, an evening of literary offerings. There are also recurring activities where you can meet people with similar interests—in singing, playing acoustic music, drumming, reading together as a family, tai chi, Zumba, yoga and aerobic exercise.

Dates, times, locations are listed at GoYachats.com/Events. This really is a terrific location for finding out what's going on. You can also check out restaurants—hours of operation and menus. Or lodging—all the motels and vacation rentals in Yachats are listed on GoYachats. If you need a plumber, special spices or organic produce, books, videos, a unique gift, dog grooming, a birthday card, people grooming, a church, or a geode, you can find out where to find it right here in Yachats. GoYachats/Index will lead you to the right place.

Recent changes to the GoYachats website system have made it easier for merchants to list their special products, sales, or events like wine tastings or receptions for authors. The more we, the customers, look at these announcements and take advantage of them, the more the businesses will actively update their sites. Yes, it's a chicken and egg process, but for busy business owners who aren't sure they have the time to spend on GoYachats, your visit to their GoYachats listing (and mentioning it when you use their services or visit their stores) will help them realize the power of our very own local electronic Yellow Pages!

Another good place for up-to-date info on what is happening in Yachats is the GoYachats Facebook page. You can link to it from GoYachats.com, right under the picture of the sandpipers. Did you get my message? GO YACHATS—TODAY!!
