JUNE 2015

THE YACHATS CITY COUNCIL VISION

Adopted: April 2, 2009

Our village is a place where natural resources are valued and protected, where diversity is celebrated, and where a vibrant economy and sense of community pride create and recreate a living spirit. Yachats cares not just for its citizens' basic needs but also supports them in their efforts to excel mentally, physically, artistically, and spiritually. It is a community with an enduring sense of itself.

Mayor's Message

By Ron Brean, Mayor

Yachats Money Thinkers

(Aside to the reader:

"Yachats Money Thinkers" is the title of this article for a reason. If you can make it to the end you'll understand why. Unfortunately, though, I have to bore you with a lot of [yawn] money details first. Sorry.)

This is budget season. Governmental bodies everywhere are working their way through the process of figuring out how they are going to deliver needed services, how much it will cost, and where the money is going to come from. Cities do it. Counties do it. Special districts (like fire districts and port districts) do it. I think most people think that their property taxes pay for pretty much everything, and there are certainly lots of services that are paid from property taxes. In Yachats people who own homes or other property pay taxes on those properties to the County, to the school district, to the fire district, to the Port of Alsea, the hospital district, and to pay off a number of bonds (schools, community college, and utility improvements)...and, oh yeah, to the City of Yachats.

What most people don't realize is that the portion that is paid to the City of Yachats represents only 1.3% of the total tax bill. That is to say a little more than a penny of every tax dollar is the city's share. Of course that's for general operating funding, but if you take the time to sort through the details it's actually more complicated than that. The City has a small share of the bonds I mentioned so add another penny. There is also an urban renewal district which will help with some of our infrastructure needs but if we didn't have the URD you would still be paying the same in taxes. The only difference would be that Yachats couldn't use those funds (its complicated, but bear with me). Long story short, if you count every dollar that in some way benefits the citizens of Yachats directly it amounts to about 11 cents of every property tax dollar paid.

At this point, if your eyes haven't totally glazed over, you're probably thinking that's a complaint about how little we get. It's actually not. I'm only giving you some background you'll need to understand why there's a group called The Yachats Money Thinkers. (See I told you I'd get back to the title, but I actually haven't really gotten back to it yet. It's coming...really).

If you've been reading the news of late, aside from references to the budget process in all of those various entities, you will have seen stories about escalating utility costs, decaying infrastructure that needs replaced, and cities raising fees for water and sewer services. Pipes and pumps installed decades ago have aged beyond serviceability. It's actually a national phenomenon. The sources of funds to fix these problems are taxes, fees, bonds, and the like.

In Yachats we're actually doing alright...relatively speaking. We've been replacing infrastructure as needed on a pay-as-you-go basis. But we do have needs going forward to replace aging facilities and to expand our capacity to withstand droughts, provide enough water to effectively combat fires, repave roads that are unraveling, replace the roof on the Commons...and stuff like that. Long story short, the answer for us isn't in property taxes. There just isn't that much money there.

So I asked some Yachatians to come together and brainstorm ideas about how we can continue to stay on top of our facility needs going forward. That is to say, I asked them to figure out where money could come from to address these needs recognizing that it wasn't going to be available in the property tax base. I didn't know what to call this ad hoc committee, but (being Yachatians) they did. They are the Yachats Money Thinkers (told you I'd get back to it).

Ideas ranged from the whimsical (adopt a Yachats mole...we'll take care of it for you and you'll get an adoption certificate in exchange for your donation) to the more mundane like a local option tax levies, to bonds, to utility rate adjustments, to increasing the transient lodging taxes. In the end a series of recommendations have been made to the City Council. Over the next several months we will be looking at those recommendations and trying to figure out how we are going to pay for needed services.

Stay tuned for more on this subject as the council deliberates. Much of it will be [yawn] boring, but not all. One idea that has a lot of energy is a non-profit to which people who love our village can donate or bequest money. That non-profit could create the adoption papers to take over guardianship of a Yachats mole, sell ownership of creatively designed crosswalks, rent bricks...and on the expenditure side could help with infrastructure, but could also fund the artists and materials to create those crosswalks, help the Yachats Youth and Activities Program, the Friends of the Yachats Commons, the Lions, the Lady's Club,...and stuff.

Like I said, stay tuned. Only in Yachats could a subject like raising revenue for infrastructure be so interesting and fun.

Code Enforcement Report

By Donald Niskanen, Code Enforcement Officer

We are on the verge of summer. It has been such a mild winter and spring, I'm not sure we will notice much of a weather change.

We will notice the influx of tourists; Motels, vacation rentals, restaurants and businesses are gearing up for the rush. It kind of didn't stop this off-season. There have been a lot of people in town, especially on the weekends. Our numbers are up all across the board for the last two quarters.

We have experienced several break-ins and robberies at several of our local business. These are always traumatic for the owners and a real breach of private property. This is a Lincoln County Sheriff Department matter and any information should be directed to them, 541-265-4277.

I have been coordinating with Wally Orchard, Chair, YIPS (Yachats Invasive Plant Subcommittee, part of the Yachats Parks and Commons Commission, on battling our invasive plant problem. The YIPS crew goes out monthly and works on public property. I send letters to property owners with invasive plants. I am happy to report that I have received almost a 75% positive response to the letters and the problem is taken care of, even if not solved.

I attended the spring conference of the Oregon Code Enforcement Association in Bend in April. I received my Code Enforcement Professional certification. This is the fourth and highest level the Association awards. I feel pretty good about this.

Yachats is dependent on our tourists. We have been great hosts. From experience, I know the exhaustion and lack of energy that comes at the end of August and September. We will be good hosts again this year. I have been receiving excellent response from vacation rental agents on any problems reported. It has taken some time, but I think it is understood that the City supports this industry, as long as the City ordinances are followed. Feel free to call me, if you see any problems, 541-961-6695.

Spring and summer bring an influx of contractors to do repair and new building on your property. I have brought this up before. These contractors need to have a City Business License. It is very inexpensive, $40.00. The fee covers them for the full calendar year. I hate to interrupt important work on your property, but if I don't see the company on my list of licensed contractors or they don't have a name on their vehicles, I will stop. I give an initial warning and then a second warning. If there is no compliance, there is no third warning. It is a citation and a visit with the Judge and Municipal Court. The fine is 85% higher than the license and they still have to get the license. Have a good summer. Considering what some other Communities have to deal with, Yachats is pretty blessed. It is a great place!

Yachats Lunch Bunch

By Will Williams, Coordinator

The June luncheon will take place as usual at the Yachats Commons on the last Thursday in June, the 25th. Doors open at 11.30 and lunch is served at noon. The event is open to everyone 55 or over and there is a suggested donation of $5. This is our Pre-July-Fourth shebang! All brought to you by our valiant Yachats Lunch Bunch Team of volunteers. It will be a typical Fourth type fare: Hot dogs, Buns, Fixings, Green Salad, Baked Beans, and Brownies. There will be fun and fare! Don't forget to wear your red, white and blue for the grand event!

Yachats Farmers Market

Come support our NEW local ORGANIC growers and artists while enjoying the friendly atmosphere of the Market and all the beauty and harm that Yachats has to offer. Located at the Yachats Commons, the Yachats Farmers Market is open Sundays thru October 9:00am until 2:00pm.

Yachats Public Library

By Janet Rackleff

With school out mid- month, we'll be starting our Children's Summer Reading Program Tuesday June 23rd at 10 am. The program will continue for 8 weeks finishing August 11th. Children 4-10 years are encouraged to come read this summer at the library. The nationwide theme this summer is "Every Hero Has A Story". Each week we'll look at different types of heroes, those in our community, animal heroes, heroes in books and heroes in our families, to mention a few. In August, we'll have a juggler perform through the OR State College Fund program and a Hero puppet show will finish our program.

For more information, or to volunteer, stop in at the library.

On another note, we accept donations of clean books throughout the year and appreciate all the generosity of the community. However after this year's sale we noted some changes in what sells and will no longer accept donations of VHS tapes and audio tapes. Guess we've all moved on to newer technology. DVD's, music CD's and books on CD are still fine donations.

Yachats Trails Update

By Jan Brown, Communications Leader

This will be the last call for celebrating National Trails Day on June 6th. If you have already RSVP'd for the car pool to the Cummins Ridge Trail and lunch following the hike, please plan to be at the Cape Perpetua Visitors Center promptly at 9:00 a.m. Cars will leave for the trail immediately after a group photo is taken. Cups of water will be available for hikers, but you are encouraged to bring your own water bottle to reduce the number of plastic bottles used overall. Also, as always, plan to dress in layers for changeable Oregon weather and bring gloves to protect your hands when pulling Tansy. Trail crew members: This will count as our monthly work session for June.

Last month, Trails Committee Chair Lauralee Svendsgaard and Development Committee Leader Joanne Kittel had an exceptional opportunity to "talk trails" with hundreds of trail advocates from all over the world at the International Trails Symposium, which was held in Portland this year, and were on hand to see Oregon receive the Trails State of the Year Award from American Trails. One great thing about these types of events is that we come away with fresh ideas and connections but also are able to validate how many things we're doing right and how talented and committed our own trails people are!

Next up are preparations for our entry in the La de da Parade. This year we have a BIG surprise in store for everyone... that's all we can say for now, but we think it's going to be pretty great!

YIPS! (Yachats Invasive Plants Subcommittee) News

As the weather warms and the days lengthen, YIPS! has its hands full. Employing a small band of volunteers who meet once a month, we try to control weeds at Whale Tail Park, the Prospect Garden, the Commons Wetland Park and other spots in town. Scotch Broom is in full flower up and down the coast now, but thanks to the work of YIPS! Members you won't find much here in Yachats. Here's a true story for you that occurred this past month... A Waldport resident with a severe Scotch Broom allergy was considering moving to Yachats, and was examining a "For Sale" lot here. She was surprised and delighted to note that the lot and surrounding area were totally devoid of Broom, and she has now put in an offer to buy the lot.

What it all comes down to though, is that we need all the help we can get. Can we count on you to pull Broom, Tansy Ragwort and other noxious weeds that you find growing around town? To sign up for YIPS! or to report problem weeds, call Wally at 541-547-5474 or email worchard@peak.org.

Upcoming Trails, YIPS! and Related Events

The Yachats Trails Crew meets on the first Saturday of each month and the YIPS! Crew on the third Saturday, both from 10:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m. There are always a wide variety of tasks for all levels of interest so come join in the fun. We guarantee you a warm appreciative welcome and a friendly social get-together to celebrate our accomplishments at the end.

Upcoming events to add to your calendar:

June 6 (Saturday) 9:00 a.m. National Trails Day Hike and Tansy Pull- This will serve as our monthly work session for June.

June 20th (Saturday) 10:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m.: YIPS! work event. (Location TBA)

July 4th La de da Parade - YAY!

Commons Events

By Leon Sterner, Coordinator

I would like to cover two related topics in this article; 1) how to find great information on the GoYachats.com website and 2) an overview of how to use GoYachats.com to make room reservations.

To start, I'll let you know that there is new class being offered at the Commons by Christine Roskam; Quigong energy exercises are held on Tuesday mornings at 8:30am in room 3. If you are looking for fun, easy, low impact ways to enhance your general wellness and would enjoy having more stamina, ease, and flow in your daily life, then consider checking out Qigong (also known as "Qi" or "Chi"). This class was recently begun, and is one, among quite a number, of weekly exercise opportunities that take place in the Commons. These 'opportunities' to tune mind, body and spirit, include a number of Yoga classes beginner to advanced Tai Chi, and the thrice weekly exercise, twice weekly Zumba. If you are interested in checking out any of these activities, the schedule for each of them is listed on the GoYachats.com website on the "Events" tab.

In addition to physical activities, GoYachats.com lists other activities and events that will be happening in the Commons and in the broader Yachats community. Did you know that community members who are connected to local organizations and groups also help post their own activities so that we can all find out about what will be happening? And the website is also a portal to a host of web based information; there are links to City services, businesses and an ever expanding document library, to name a few. So while you are spending time surfing the internet, check out the wealth of information on GoYachats.com.

The second topic I would like to address is an overview of how to determine the availability of rentable spaces at the Commons and how to make a reservation for an event. If you are looking for an 'open date' for a meeting, a class or perhaps space for a wedding reception or family reunion, you can search the calendar for any of the rooms here at the Commons. The GoYachats.com website is your portal of entry for this process. When at this site, click the "Facilities" tab and if you look down the list, you will find all of the rentable Commons rooms, listed. Click on the room you are interested in renting, and you will be directed to a page which has information about that room; dimensions, occupancy ( number of people it will accommodate ) and cost of renting the space. And importantly, the lower portion of this page is a calendar which shows all the reservations that are currently in place for the current month. Also, you can scroll ahead month by month to see availability in the future. When you see an open date and time that you would like to reserve for your event, click on the "Reservation Request" tab and BINGO! You are at a page that will allow you to submit a reservation request. If this seems a bit complicated don't fret!

We have been working hard for the past several years to develop this system, and we continue to work to make it 'better and easier' to use.

As the User Support Manager, one of my roles is to help community members learn about the GoYachats.com website, and how to make reservations at the Commons. You can give me a call and I'll assist you in making the reservation and will try to answer any questions you may have. My phone is 541-961-6597

Crosswalk Safety Laws:

With Yachats' summer tourist season almost in full swing we all need to take more care when driving through town. Both drivers and pedestrians should take the time to understand the fundamental laws regarding crosswalks—doing so helps lower the risk of unwanted accidents.

Remember, under Oregon law there is a crosswalk at every intersection.

Do not pass a vehicle stopped at a crosswalk. A stopped car may be a clue that a pedestrian is crossing.

When stopping at an intersection, do not block the crosswalk. This forces pedestrians to go around your vehicle and puts them in a dangerous situation.

Pedestrians move at different speeds. Be alert for children who may suddenly dart into the street. Be patient with older adults who take extra time to cross the street. Be alert for people or animals during lowlight conditions, especially in areas where they are likely to cross the road, or you might not see them until it is too late to stop.

PLEASE SLOW DOWN...visitors are savoring every minute while enjoying the beauty of our little Village!

Little Log Church and Museum

By Mary Crook, Events Coordinator

"Crazy" is more than a song by Patsy Kline.

One of our exhibits at the Little Log Church is a beautiful silk and velvet quilt donated by a local family. We don't know much about it other than it dates from 1880 to 1883, and there are some very intriguing illustrations sewn or appliqued into the pieces: There is a fireman's hat, musical notes, a chaff of wheat, and other cryptic symbols. The stitching is elegant and elaborate. Its random patterns define it as a crazy quilt.

Visitors who know about quilting admire it with awe. I, however, -- one who would rather put a shirt into the rag bag before sewing on a button -- had been totally ignorant of the skills and intricacies involved in such hand crafts. So I decided to do a little research on crazy quilts. I learned a great deal, and now have a greater appreciation for the treasure in our museum.

It seems the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition in 1886 was a big event in Victorian society. One of the most popular exhibits was about the Japanese technique of crazed ceramics and asymmetrical art. Ceramics appeared to be cracked in odd patterns. Popular women's magazines of the time encouraged incorporating the crazed patterns into quilts. They showed how to incorporate asymmetrical pieces of fabric together in abstract arrangements. Hence the term "crazy quilt", which did not mean wild or wacky, but rather something broken into random pieces.

It became quite the rage in the late nineteenth century. The pieces, although they appeared to be haphazardly placed, were very carefully planned, and many hours were spent cutting shapes and experimenting with various arrangements before actually sewing them together. It was more than an exercise in sewing and stitching; it was an opportunity for women to socialize, be creative, and have some fun.

So next time you stop by the Little Log Church and Museum take a closer look at the beautiful silk and velvet quilt, imagine the intricate planning that went into its creation, and appreciate the exhibit at the Japanese pavilion that started the fad of the late nineteenth century. Crazy, huh?
